

This is like the below-ghost Altarpiece's "twisted banner" visualized ribbon of word-letters (from the brain-eating by the newer captives, represented by this counselor. → The early-days "Eve" can't really describe the trauma in her brain from previous generations' being plagued by the smiling invaders with this Autism-psychopathy from millennia alone in the New World, tearing up everything, represented by the dark-haired "Adam." That "basket-case" serpent represents Eve's natural Adam before the invaders ravaged everywhere, because of the Autism and its psychopathy.
