

You were wrong ... pdf, (5/18 note, PP Rubens was a big spy-operator in all this during the 1600s, buddies with Captain John Smith who'd discovered this Potomac area and all kinds of other then-influential big operatives in this, like right after the King James version was made, etc., but I'm mentioning Rubens because there was a particular figure he'd painted that seems to be coming up, the type has, alot lately, a figure said to have been of Dagobert I, a little kid Autist, in I think the single-panel version of Ruben's St. Bavo-named work, like Coronation or Baptism or something of St. Bavo. There was a 3-panel and the finished copy was 1 panel I think is how that one goes, with one copy in London and one in Ghent.) I call this "You were wrong, Jew," but it's also "magician," Sikh, (Jesus father and son types, Semites, generational-slave #2 types,) and all other kinds of people where this particular casual word is too controversial for me to be able to stick up where without the explication that goes along with this which goes back to as far as the "Adam and Eve" real days practically, that that couple there isn't really an original type, it's a hybrid-type of the unsuspecting normal residents of the Old World and then a Paleo-American invader boy with the "counselor" as really being these "Semite" captive-types that I call the generational-slave #2 type. Many of the different subjects lead back to this "blame game" problem where I'm trying to say that the Paleo-American Autism (-psychopathy) was/is invisible and the girl back then couldn't explain the problems and the Autists always screech that they've been wronged and the "counselor" was a new people plopped into that long-time problem all the Old Worlders had long been having with the "back and forth" over Berinigia invader-people and the subject is multi-layered and such that it's the most simple thing to explain but it goes back so far that that makes things seem complicated and I'm trying to explain that we're in advanced times now and can take care of the Autism without much expense merely by talking and explaining about itself and I've been begging and no one hears anything largely perhaps because that "counselor" type protects the boy's type, that it always comes down to that and seems "convoluted" because the counselor is really prisoner to decapitators that you can't argue with anyway and even that is a bad word because that is one of the main horrors, this "goo-ing" humans as though that's a valid economy. Again, the counselor would look at the two complainants and give their words equal weight when the boy had this "invisible" Autism that people still don't even realize about nowadays, giving equal weight to the male and female sides of this "domestic quarrel" when really the girl is just normal and the guy's an Autist-psychopath with packs of killers as the buddies and big brothers all behind him and his fabricated story-claims, etc. -- 4/26/17, and it's possible I come from that sort of female who'd tried to teach the Autist boy/s by writing language down in a book, then when the Autism became uncontrollable and her type couldn't cope any longer, as no one could, and the boy/s was asked to leave they wanted, demanded, to take the writing-book with them and it became a big/bigger argument, that you can't take it because you're only going to set fire to it or some such and it became like a warfare over the writing practice book that the new captives stepped in and the males were uncontrollable to get possession of the papers and that became this bible that the counselor presided over turning into then all these religions, but now I've found this Sylvian fissure brain-scar and I'm thinking it's evidence for that the retardation of the Autism is even worse than I can get across since I can't get anything across to anyone, just live in this horror-vacuum, which brings me to that "the counselor" saw that one of the few things that cheer the male up so it isn't a psychopath headhunter is to hurt the girl, that hurting the girl, like me, gets the counselor-captive off of the torture-hook for their own selves for a little while and that that's pretty much how this "Armageddon Program" works, this early-days argument that the boy has to get away from the girl and no he can't take the record-book of what has transpired with himself because they'll only destroy the record of what's been going on that there's all this war for no apparent real reason, except that they've got this brain damage from the ancestors' having prematurely crossed Beringia and infants had developed that problem and it's been developmentally congenitally passed.

20 May 2017- this is Rubens is more important than I know or could explain in that there was a whole big group of them back then, early successful mass-reproductions it seems evident, and Rubens'd traveled alot like from Flanders/the Netherlands to England to Spain and to Italy at some point but it was the back and forth between England and Spain that might have had the most to do with this "Armageddon" business, where those 1492 Line of Demarcation people, the thieves of the Vatican and then claimers of the New World that they sent "Columbus" out to claim after having learned about it I'd guess, those of the brain-damaged Autists who'd dug in under Siber-Mongolia and then invaded Europe from the north down to Rome I figure, they divvied-up the New World and that includes here, and Rubens' contemporary Captain John Smith had discovered here and gotten this all built-up but all that happened within whatever Rubens was doing going between his type as Charles I of England and the Spanish Philip or whoever same thing, -- which I figure they were all slaves doing that taking-over as being slaves and not because they wanted to but because they were all held prisoner and so made a deal to get the world taken-over for the Autists and their Neanderthal buddies if they would just sit and wait while the slaves ran around getting the world taken over for themselves, and that's what I figure is still this that's going on, that from the Line of Demarcation to now the ones sitting and waiting under Siber-Mongolia feel that their claims over this territory are the real deal and the rest of us are just trespassing or dying-off from the original inhabitants that happened to be in the newly-discovered lands.

5/26, Now I've got Alexander Graham Bell as being a big Rubens-like operative in setting up all this, for the Autists and their Armageddon getting back at "the others." It's so bad I can barely think.

the root problem

the twisted difficulty-adam and eve cartoon mind reading error-Ghent Altarpiece outside